

I and II
SONNET.

A finer music through the chapel rings
Than ever rolled from organ made by man,
A melody of far Aldebaran
When to his sister stars he sweetly sings;
And all the air seems full of gauzy wings
Of fairies who along the sunbeams ran
To flutter round that filmy scarf of tan
Caresing your white throat. Oh, happy things,
They know their more than beautiful queen,
On harps invisible, so none can hear
Save those whose hearts are also harps whose strings
Are vibrant, dreaming of you all the day,
And so you pass along the aisle, while near
To guard you, flutter iridescent wings.

III

Ruth, for the last week or so we've been harboring a grudge against you. But now we want to apologize—more than that, we want to express our appreciation and thanks for favors received. You see it was this way. About a week ago you chose the Senior men who are to participate in the Minuet at the Washington ball. You did not choose us. We were considerably aggravated and not a little disappointed to find our talents so brutally slighted.

IV

But in last Wednesday's Carletonian appeared a picture of the participants in last year's Minuet. And therein, Ruth, lies the reason for our apology and expression of gratitude.

V

HA HA. YES, WE THOUGHT SO TOO WHEN WE FIRST HEARD IT. My Very Dear Sir—I hesitate to write you, as we have never been introduced, but I observe that you conduct a very diverting column in which you are fond of printing rollicking stories. Here is one that a young woman told me the other day. It is screamingly funny. I fancy I shall have to tell you about it. It is like this: You say to someone, "Now if you were lost in the woods, a deep, deep, dark woods,—lost, mind you, quite lost, and suddenly you found an egg, you see, YOU FOUND AN EGG, what would you do? The answer is most amusing. "You would BREAK the egg and jump in the YOLK and ride home." Ha, ha, ha, it is very funny!

VI

OH YOU DON'T KNOW THE HALF OF IT, PETE.

Dear Rog:
Many of my folk have been communicating with your readers of late. Every one here hopes they are highly enlightened and contented after these seances.

VII

Aren't You Assuming a Little? Or Are You?

DEAR ROG:
Mr. Job's interesting description of Heaven pleased me immensely. Please, Mr. Job, follow it up with a description of my realm.

VIII

The sudden and unaccountable lull in the seancer's activities has caused us to once more break into song, and in this manner: (Supply your own tune if you can't guess the right one). Oh where, oh where have our seancers gone,
Oh where, oh where have they gone? They've gone back to their tiddle-de-winks,
Peace ever more.

IX

Dere Roge:
Whats ben botherin me fer the last cuple of days is these here what they call Intra-Muriel Sassiety Basketball Games. It seems that every time they has a game, a noo set of crutches apers on the campus, & the what is teknikaly knon as "writt-ups" about every game seems to be more than anythin els, a trainin skool fer futur kolum conducters. If the boys wants to get hert, al they neded to do wus to go up to ST. Tomas last nite. & if they wants to get funny, why they dont have to do nuthin more'n try to run across the icy sidwaks to clas.

X and XI
GOOD LUCK.

By nature I'm a grouchy cuss
And crabbed all the while;
I've rarely spoonched a kindly speech
Or smole a pleasant smile.

But now the world has taken on
A bright and rosy hue—
Today I found a horse-shoe
In my mutton stew.

XII

Tonight we wend our way to the Washington ball. We don't know just what we're going to wear, or any other gruesome details along that line, but we know we are going. We intended to carry a hatchet and go as little George Washington, but Mr. Fitch told us the other day that George didn't cut down any cherry tree whatsoever, and now we don't know what to do—unless—why—sure enough!—we can go just as we intended to, only we'll be little George Washington with the hatchet he didn't use to cut down the cherry tree that never was.

—F. ROGER DUNN.

Relay Entries to Have Final Time Trials

Carleton's two-mile relay team composed of Burns, Kolderie, Swanson, and Ensminger, will run at Shattuck today for final time trials before traveling to Urbana, Illinois, to compete in the Illinois relays next Saturday. A track team of freshmen and sophomores will tackle the Shattuck track men at Faribault this afternoon. The men will be under the direction of Coach Millen and they hope to duplicate the victory that the junior-senior team won over the Red and White team some weeks ago.

WHAT DO YOU THINK ABOUT SPIRITUALISM?

E. E. Johnson, '27: A pleasant pastime.

Harriet Hall, '25: As a table-tipping contest, it's great sport.

Clinton LaBarr, '27: Three words express it: It's the bunk!

Eunice Larson, '27: It's the height of imbecility.

Lois Dunning, '25: It's all right if you and your roommate are both strong-minded.

Sterling McGrath, '28: There is a certain amount of truth in it, if treated properly. However, I should not take it as a basis of character or religion, but rather, should use it as a source of exciting entertainment.

South Dakota State College celebrates a Hobo Day. Both men and women resembled hobos this year, the men "by sapping their life blood to grow beards," and the women by giving their bobbing shearers a weekly layoff.
